

Corporate Social Responsibility in the Oil & Gas Industry

COURSE OVERVIEW

This course is designed to equip professionals with the strategic tools and knowledge required to design, implement, and manage Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) initiatives within the oil and gas sector. With rising global expectations for sustainability, transparency, and ethical impact, oil and gas companies must go beyond compliance to build trust, create shared value, and contribute meaningfully to host communities and the environment.

Participants will explore the intersection of CSR with stakeholder engagement, ESG (Environmental, Social, and Governance) frameworks, regulatory expectations, local content, community relations, and sustainability reporting.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

This course is designed for CSR Managers, Community Relations Officers, ESG and Sustainability Professionals, HSE Managers, Public Affairs Executives, Project Managers, Legal and Compliance Officers, and Senior Leaders responsible for corporate citizenship, stakeholder engagement, or social investment in the oil and gas sector.

COURSE OUTCOMES

Delegates will gain knowledge and skills to:

- Understand the strategic role of CSR in oil and gas operations
- Design CSR strategies that align with business and community goals
- Engage effectively with stakeholders and host communities
- Address social and environmental impact through proactive initiatives
- Apply global standards such as the UN SDGs, ISO 26000, and IFC guidelines
- Communicate CSR efforts through sustainability and impact reports

KEY COURSE HIGHLIGHTS

At the end of the course, you will understand:

- CSR as a business strategy in high-impact industries
- Stakeholder and community engagement frameworks
- ESG integration and sustainability metrics
- Legal, reputational, and ethical considerations in CSR
- Sustainability and CSR reporting (GRI, SASB, etc.)
- Case studies from leading oil & gas CSR initiatives
- Partnerships with NGOs, governments, and local institutions
- Linking CSR to long-term license to operate and social investment outcomes

All our courses are dual-certificate courses. At the end of the training, the delegates will receive two certificates.

1. A GTC end-of-course certificate
2. Continuing Professional Development (CPD) Certificate of completion with earned credits awarded