

Financing Sustainable Energy Projects in Emerging Markets

COURSE OVERVIEW

This course provides participants with a comprehensive understanding of the financial frameworks, instruments, and strategies required to develop and fund sustainable energy projects in emerging markets. It explores the unique challenges and opportunities in financing renewable energy initiatives, energy efficiency programs, and low carbon infrastructure, while addressing the critical roles of stakeholders such as governments, development finance institutions, private investors, and multilateral organizations. Participants will learn to navigate the unique challenges and opportunities of developing, structuring, and funding renewable energy and energy efficiency projects in their various environments.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

The course is designed for professionals involved in energy, finance, and infrastructure development, including project developers, financial analysts, investment managers, policymakers, regulators, and representatives from international organizations.

COURSE OUTCOMES

Delegates will gain the skills and knowledge to:

- Understand the financial landscape and investment trends in sustainable energy across emerging markets.
- Identify risks and barriers to financing and apply strategies to mitigate them.
- Structure projects that are attractive to investors and lenders.
- Apply blended finance, guarantees, and innovative funding mechanisms.
- Evaluate case studies of successful financing models for renewable and sustainable energy projects.

KEY COURSE HIGHLIGHTS

At the end of the course, you will understand:

- In-depth exploration of financing mechanisms for renewable energy and energy efficiency.
- Practical case studies from Africa, Asia, and Latin America.
- Tools for risk analysis and project bankability assessment.
- Insights from industry experts and practitioners.
- Interactive sessions on structuring sustainable finance deals.

All our courses are dual-certificate courses. At the end of the training, the delegates will receive two certificates.

1. A GTC end-of-course certificate
2. Continuing Professional Development (CPD) Certificate of completion with earned credits awarded